

In Belgium, Britain and Online

Dear Colleagues,

Writing this editorial letter, I am still waiting impatiently for the SOLA event of the year to begin: our conference in Bruges.

As you read this, you will already know if we were able to fulfill your expectations at the meeting. The abstracts of all the submitters seem to promise a high level of scientific communication, following the tradition of our congresses.

In case you could not manage to participate in the Bruges conference, I cordially invite you to take the time to visit the upcoming SOLA meeting in Stratford-upon-Avon, Great Britain. We will meet there in September this year and exchange practical experiences on all the different indications of laser dentistry, together with workshops on all wavelengths. Find all information about the

LASER CONGRESS 2007,
Lasers in General Dental Practice
Stratford Manor Hotel, Stratford-upon-Avon, UK
20 – 22 September 2007

on SOLA's website www.esola.at.

I also have great news to report about JOLA; from now on, it is possible to submit your manuscripts online via www.manuscriptmanager.com. You will find a system there which allows you to follow the process of manuscript review very easily, and you will immediately find all information needed to finalize the publication of your work, via the system. The reviewing process will be faster and the system will guarantee transparency of the relevant deadlines. We hope to offer you a very comfortable alternative for submitting scientific articles or case reports with this service, and that you will frequently take advantage of this opportunity to submit papers via internet.

If you plan to take a summer vacation, let me wish you a very relaxing and joyful time; may all of us recover our strength to concentrate our energies on an exciting scientific period in autumn.

Sincerely yours

DDr. Franziska Beer
Managing Editor JOLA